1. What is this course about?

1.1. Description

As part of the capstone suite of final year courses, this course explores professional sustainability and wellbeing in the teaching profession. Specifically, this course analyses purposes of education and curriculum and synthesises these with the development of teacher identity in context. The role of teachers as public intellectuals in different contexts, including regional, remote and remote settings, will be studied in depth, and preservice teachers will be equipped with restorative practice strategies to enhance their professional sustainability.

1.2. How will this course be delivered?

1.3. Course Topics

- Purposes of education and curriculum.
- Professional sustainability and teacher wellbeing.
- Development of teacher identity, influences of worldviews and applied ethics.
- Teaching in and for context: how teachers meet the world with specific examples of restorative rules and routines that are shown by the research to be effective and how to use them in a lesson.
- Focus: effectively model restorative behaviour and explicitly prompt restorative behaviour by setting and reinforcing expectations in circles, chats and classroom conferences.
- Focus: International, Rural, regional and remote contexts – professional sustainability in place
- Focus: alternative schooling contexts – Steiner, Montessori, Reggio Emilia etc.
- Restorative practice as a paradigm for proactively viewing, exploring and responding to the world as a whole-school approach: Examples of common restorative 'whole school approaches' and restorative processes for supporting positive behaviour.
- Exploring how teachers engage effectively with a restorative framework.
- Evidence-based teaching practices and routines for effective instruction as a protective measure to reduce the need for furth intervention.

9. How are risks managed in this course?

Health and safety risks for this course have been assessed as low. It is your responsibility to review course material, search online, discuss with lecturers and peers and understand the health and safety risks associated with your specific course of study and to familiarise yourself with the University's general health and safety principles by reviewing the online induction training for students, and following the instructions of the University staff.

10. What administrative information is relevant to this course?

10.1. Assessment: Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is the ethical standard of university participation. It ensures that students graduate as a result of proving they are competent in their discipline. This is integral in maintaining the value of academic qualifications. Each industry has expectations and standards of the skills and knowledge within that discipline and these are reflected in assessment.

Academic integrity means that you do not engage in any activity that is considered to be academic fraud; including plagiarism, collusion or outsourcing any part of any assessment item to any other person. You are expected to be honest and ethical by completing all work yourself and indicating in your work which ideas and information were developed by you and which were taken from others. You cannot provide your assessment work to others. You are also expected to provide evidence of wide and critical reading, usually by using appropriate academic references.

In order to minimise incidents of academic fraud, this course may require that some of its assessment tasks, when submitted to Canvas, are electronically checked through Turnitin. This software allows for text comparisons to be made between your submitted assessment item and all other work to which Turnitin has access.

10.2. Assessment: Additional Requirements

Eligibility for Supplementary Assessment

Your eligibility for supplementary assessment in a course is dependent of the following conditions applying:
(a) The final mark is in the percentage range 47% to 49.4%; and
(b) The course is graded using the Standard Grading scale

10.3. Assessment: Submission penalties

Late submissions may be penalised up to and including the following maximum percentage of the assessment task's identified value, with weekdays and weekends included in the calculation of days late:
(a) One day: deduct 5%;
(b) Two days: deduct 10%;
(c) Three days: deduct 20%;
(d) Four days: deduct 40%;
(e) Five days: deduct 60%;
(f) Six days: deduct 80%;
(g) Seven days: A result of zero is awarded for the assessment task.

The following penalties will apply for a late submission for an online examination:
Less than 15 minutes: No penalty
From 15 minutes to 30 minutes: 20% penalty
More than 30 minutes: 100% penalty
