5.1. Pre-requisites

Enrolled in Program ED303

5.2. Co-requisites

Not applicable

5.3. Anti-requisites

Not applicable

5.4. Specific assumed prior knowledge and skills (where applicable)

Not applicable

6. How am I going to be assessed?

6.1. Grading Scale

Standard Grading (GRD)

High Distinction (HD), Distinction (DN), Credit (CR), Pass (PS), Fail (FL).

6.2. Details of early feedback on progress

Early feedback mechanisms will be embedded in weekly tutorial activities to support your success with this task. You can also use Canvas Discussions to engage in conversation about the focus and progress of your reflection and your guiding principles as an educator. In Week 3 there is opportunity to share your current draft with peers and gain formative feedback. In Week 6 you will share your completed narrative/creative work with your peers.

6.3. Assessment tasks

All	2	Written Piece	Individual	50%	2000 words or equivalent	Week 10	Online Submission

All - Assessment Task 1: Sustainability focused narrative or creative work (and sharing of this work with peers)

GOAL:	The goal of this task is to consider your own experiences with nature, how these have influenced you, and will enhance your role as an educator.
PRODUCT:	Artefact - Creative
FORMAT:	* Please refer to the Canvas site for this course for more detail. This assessment is founded on your reflection on your experiences with nature. It will be helpful to use the textbook, current research, & relevant early childhood curriculum framework emphases about sustainability, belonging and wellbeing as you reflect on your own childhood and adult encounters with nature and natural play spaces. Consider the significance of the concept of place and the environment you encountered as a child as you explore your connection with the environment (perhaps aesthetically, emotionally and spiritually). Did place have meaning for you? (Australian Curriculum: how places give meaning to people and are important to identity, belonging, wellbeing; the significance of the concept of environment; why some places are special; the important interrelationships and interactions between humans and the environment; and the significance of the concept of sustainability.) This task invites you to create a narrative or creative work to capture the connections, interconnections, and disconnections of your personal experiences with nature and the natural world, as well as your holistic thinking in relation to values, commitments, learning, living and wellbeing. You might consider how your experiences and relationships with nature and the natural world have supported your own experiences of belonging, wellbeing and connectedness, and any new educator inspirations arising from engagement with this task..

All - Assessment Task 2: Personal and Professional Position Paper

GOAL:	The goal of this task is to articulate a personal and professional position about the importance of 'early education for sustainability' through discussion of a sustainability issue of your choice
PRODUCT:	Written Piece
FORMAT:	* Please refer to the Canvas site for this course for more detail. This task invites you to create a persuasive research-informed personal/professional position statement on an 'early education for sustainability' issue of your choice. This issue should be one you find meaningful and relevant for your work as an early childhood educator and be linked to your short-term and long-term commitments for children and early childhood education. Your textbook has a range of topics and provocations which could be used as starting points. You could continue your exploration of the contribution of nature and the natural world to children's health and wellbeing. Or, you could build upon course learning, such as promoting child-friendly communities or child-centred change movements in response to contemporary sustainability issues. Whatever your chosen topic, your textbook, current research, and relevant curriculum sustainability emphases and concepts will support you in identifying the rich contributions children can make to sustainable futures. Use this task as an opportunity to consider your educator values of care, respect and responsibility, and your roles and strategies for working collaboratively with children, family and community to engage with contemporary sustainability issues. Your teaching strategies may be responsive to learning opportunities that are planned and also to 'in-the-moment' teaching opportunities that might arise during classroom conversations and interactions. This task offers an opportunity for you to develop your information literacy skills and dispositions, recognise that information has value, and value the skills, time and effort needed to produce knowledge.

CRITERIA:	No.	Learning Outcome assessed
	1	Knowledge of contemporary sustainability issues	1 3 4
	2	Articulation of a theorised and personalised set of strategies for promoting responsive and healthy early childhood environments; for encouraging reflection and awareness of positive actions	2 3 4
	3	Written communication skills and academic literacies including English expression, grammar, spelling, punctuation, APA referencing conventions	5

9. How are risks managed in this course?

Health and safety risks for this course have been assessed as low. It is your responsibility to review course material, search online, discuss with lecturers and peers and understand the health and safety risks associated with your specific course of study and to familiarise yourself with the University's general health and safety principles by reviewing the online induction training for students, and following the instructions of the University staff.

10. What administrative information is relevant to this course?

10.1. Assessment: Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is the ethical standard of university participation. It ensures that students graduate as a result of proving they are competent in their discipline. This is integral in maintaining the value of academic qualifications. Each industry has expectations and standards of the skills and knowledge within that discipline and these are reflected in assessment.

Academic integrity means that you do not engage in any activity that is considered to be academic fraud; including plagiarism, collusion or outsourcing any part of any assessment item to any other person. You are expected to be honest and ethical by completing all work yourself and indicating in your work which ideas and information were developed by you and which were taken from others. You cannot provide your assessment work to others. You are also expected to provide evidence of wide and critical reading, usually by using appropriate academic references.

In order to minimise incidents of academic fraud, this course may require that some of its assessment tasks, when submitted to Canvas, are electronically checked through Turnitin. This software allows for text comparisons to be made between your submitted assessment item and all other work to which Turnitin has access.

10.2. Assessment: Additional Requirements

Eligibility for Supplementary Assessment

Your eligibility for supplementary assessment in a course is dependent of the following conditions applying:

The final mark is in the percentage range 47% to 49.4%

The course is graded using the Standard Grading scale

You have not failed an assessment task in the course due to academic misconduct

10.3. Assessment: Submission penalties

All assessment extension requests must be made prior to the assessment submission deadline using the online EDU206 Extension Request Form. Evidence must be provided and be in one of the recognized forms as per clause 7.9.2 of the USC Assessment Policies and Procedures document.

Late submission of assessment tasks may be penalised at the following maximum rate:

- 5% (of the assessment task's identified value) per day for the first two days from the date identified as the due date for the assessment task.

- 10% (of the assessment task's identified value) for the third day - 20% (of the assessment task's identified value) for the fourth day and subsequent days up to and including seven days from the date identified as the due date for the assessment task.

- A result of zero is awarded for an assessment task submitted after seven days from the date identified as the due date for the assessment task. Weekdays and weekends are included in the calculation of days late.

To request an extension you must contact your course coordinator to negotiate an outcome.
