1. What is this course about?

1.1. Description

This course introduces you to the Australian social policy and legal landscape and how social work services and practice is shaped within this context. Social policy impacts on the welfare of a nation's citizens, through mechanisms for distributing society's resources. Social policy is underpinned by values, driven by political objectives and maintained by discursive practices. This course will provide a critical theoretical framework for evaluating historical and recent trends in social policy and its impact on people from various population groups.

| GENERIC SKILLS:       | Communication, Collaboration, Problem solving, Organisation   |  |                                  |

All - Assessment Task 2: Reflective Discussions

|------------------------------|---|----------------------------------|
| GOAL:                 | This assessment encourages students to engage in ongoing critical reflection that connects theoretical learning with professional values and social work practice. Through written reflections and peer discussions, students will demonstrate their ability to analyse policy, theory, evidence, and advocacy within contemporary social work contexts, while contributing to collaborative and values-informed professional dialogue. |                                  |
| PRODUCT:              | Written Piece   |                                  |

All - Assessment Task 3: Capstone Project

|------------------------------|--|---|----------------------------------|
| GOAL:                 | The capstone project enables students to synthesise and apply their learning from across the unit by critically examining a contemporary social policy issue within its legal and practice context. Through integrated analysis, reflection, and evidence-informed reasoning, students demonstrate advanced understanding of the relationship between policy, values, theory, and social work practice, and articulate a professional stance that reflects ethical and socially just engagement with systems and reform. |   |                                  |

9. How are risks managed in this course?

Health and safety risks for this course have been assessed as low. It is your responsibility to review course material, search online, discuss with lecturers and peers and understand the health and safety risks associated with your specific course of study and to familiarise yourself with the University's general health and safety principles by reviewing the online induction training for students, and following the instructions of the University staff.

10. What administrative information is relevant to this course?

10.1. Assessment: Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is the ethical standard of university participation. It ensures that students graduate as a result of proving they are competent in their discipline. This is integral in maintaining the value of academic qualifications. Each industry has expectations and standards of the skills and knowledge within that discipline and these are reflected in assessment.

Academic integrity means that you do not engage in any activity that is considered to be academic fraud; including plagiarism, collusion or outsourcing any part of any assessment item to any other person. You are expected to be honest and ethical by completing all work yourself and indicating in your work which ideas and information were developed by you and which were taken from others. You cannot provide your assessment work to others. You are also expected to provide evidence of wide and critical reading, usually by using appropriate academic references.

In order to minimise incidents of academic fraud, this course may require that some of its assessment tasks, when submitted to Canvas, are electronically checked through Turnitin. This software allows for text comparisons to be made between your submitted assessment item and all other work to which Turnitin has access.

10.2. Assessment: Additional Requirements

Eligibility for Supplementary Assessment

Your eligibility for supplementary assessment in a course is dependent of the following conditions applying:

- (a) The final mark is in the percentage range 47% to 49.4%; and
- (b) The course is graded using the Standard Grading scale

10.3. Assessment: Submission penalties

Late submissions may be penalised up to and including the following maximum percentage of the assessment task's identified value, with weekdays and weekends included in the calculation of days late:

- (a) One day: deduct 5%;
- (b) Two days: deduct 10%;
- (c) Three days: deduct 20%;
- (d) Four days: deduct 40%;
- (e) Five days: deduct 60%;
- (f) Six days: deduct 80%;
- (g) Seven days: A result of zero is awarded for the assessment task.

The following penalties will apply for a late submission for an online examination:

Less than 15 minutes: No penalty
From 15 minutes to 30 minutes: 20% penalty
More than 30 minutes: 100% penalty
